

Le mot du président Message from the President

Jacques Dumont, Université des Antilles et de la Guyane

Chers membres de notre Association,

Permettez moi tout d'abord et avec un peu de retard de nous souhaiter une belle année 2017, que celle-ci corresponde le plus possible à vos vœux. L'ACH s'approche de son demi-siècle, âge vénérable, et l'on peut remercier tous ceux qui ont permis cette belle aventure intellectuelle et humaine, ont su la maintenir vivante et dynamique.

Malgré le succès de nos colloques, notre association ne dispose toutefois pas de tout le rayonnement qu'elle mérite. Nos rencontres annuelles offrent des communications d'une grande richesse, souvent publiées ensuite dans des revues, mais qui ne participent pas directement à la reconnaissance de l'ACH. Nous voudrions proposer, sans gêner ces publications ultérieures, un dispositif autorisant l'archivage, la diffusion et la valorisation des contributions aux colloques annuels. Des spécialistes contactés, de l'université des Antilles (qui travaillent déjà en réseau avec universités, bibliothèques et banques de données caribéennes) sont prêts à nous aider dans ce sens. Nul doute que d'autres universités peuvent y contribuer, l'objectif n'étant pas l'appropriation des contenus mais bien leur mise à disposition la plus large possible.

La mise en ligne des contributions sur un portail scientifique de type HAL* (dispositif national d'archivage et de diffusion scientifique auquel l'université des Antilles a adhéré) permettrait la création d'une "collection" ACH, sorte de site internet qui permet de consulter toutes les publications suivant les entrées classiques, par auteur, titre, année, et qui peut être enrichi par différents types de liens, renvois, présentations.

L'équipe de la bibliothèque universitaire se chargerait du dépôt et de la description documentaire des contributions acceptées et de l'administration de la collection en ligne, l'association disposant évidemment des droits d'administration de la collection. Le développeur se chargerait de l'adaptation graphique. Cette valorisation des contributions pourrait aussi prendre la forme de la publication d'actes numériques en pdf. L'ACH bénéficierait ainsi d'une plus grande visibilité et d'une meilleure reconnaissance de ses travaux et de la qualité de ses membres.

La seule contrainte est l'obtention de l'autorisation de diffusion pour chaque auteur, qui ne le prive absolument pas d'une publication remaniée dans une revue.

ACH ELSA GOVEIA BOOK PRIZE UPDATE:

The ACH will be announcing the winner of the 2017 Elsa Goveia Book Prize in Tobago. This year's winner will represent excellence in the field of Caribbean history. The prize was awarded every three years until 1995, when it started being awarded every two years.

The adjudicating committee, comprising of David Trotman (Chair, York University), Anne Macpherson (State University of New York) and Pedro Welch (The University of the West Indies, Cave Hill) has been busy reviewing over 40 submissions since the deadline of December 31, 2016.

The Eligibility Criteria is as follows:

- Any scholarly history or general work acceptable as an historical work published in 2015 or 2016 is eligible for this year's competition.
- Any press or place of publication will be considered.
- Publication may be in English, Spanish, French or Dutch.
- Work should be marked by felicity of prose style and clarity of expression.
- Only first editions of original works will be considered.
- Multi-authored collections, anthologies, and other such edited works are not eligible.

Born in 1925 in British Guiana, Elsa Goveia (1925-1980) became one of the Caribbean region's foremost historians. She was the author of the seminal work entitled, A Study on the Historiography of the British West Indies to the End of the Nineteenth Century (1956). She spent most of her career teaching Caribbean History at the University College of the West Indies (now the University of the West Indies, Mona) in Jamaica.

Cette proposition a été évoquée en comité exécutif et elle mérite sans doute une discussion, avant même notre assemblée générale. Cela pourrait être une façon de prolonger les échanges sur la vie de l'ACH, en dehors de notre rencontre annuelle.

* On pourra ci joint consulter à titre d'exemple et d'illustration, des « collections » déjà mises en place :

Dear ACH Members,

First, allow me after a few weeks delay, to wish you a Happy New Year in 2017. May this year, as much as possible, be in harmony with your wishes. The ACH is almost half a century old, memorable indeed. Thanks, to all those who have contributed to keep this dynamic human and intellectual adventure alive.

Nevertheless, our association has not been given the exposure it deserves, although our conferences are greatly appreciated. Our annual meetings are occasions of valuable exchange in communication, in which our papers are often published later in journals. These articles are not always associated with the ACH, however, and as a result we might be missing an opportunity to encourage more people to see us as their platform for academic exchange. For this reason, we would like to set up a system allowing the archiving, the dissemination and the enhancement of the contributions made at the annual symposiums, without hampering subsequent publication. Specialists from the Université des Antilles et de la Guyane, (who are already networking with other universities, libraries and Caribbean databases) are willing to help us to do so. There is no doubt that other universities can contribute in this regard, with the objective being, not the appropriation of the contents, but rather making them as widely available as possible.

To reach this aim, the creation of a “ACH Collection”, a kind of database built according to classical entries, by author, title, year and which can be enriched by different types of links, references and presentations, would be necessary on a scientific portal like the HAL type (National system for scientific archiving and dissemination to which the Université des Antilles et de la Guyane has adhered). The library team of the university would deal with the deposit and the description of documentation selected and the management of the collection online; the association having the administration rights of the collection. The website developer would be in charge of the graphical adaptation. The documentation could take the form of digital publishing in PDF. The ACH would benefit in this manner by having greater visibility, and better recognition of its work and its members.

The only obstacle is to obtain the authorization of dissemination from each author, which does not deprive him or her from publishing a revised text in a journal. This proposal was referred to among the Executive Committee and certainly deserves a discussion, even before our General Assembly. It could be an opportunity to prolong discussions about the ACH beyond our yearly meeting.

As an example and illustration, we can consult “collections” already in place:

- la collection des publications de l'Université des Antilles

<https://hal-uag.archives-ouvertes.fr/>

- la collection de la conférence IGS 2015

Estimados miembros ACH:

Primero, os pido me permitís, con unas semanas de retraso, desearos un Feliz Año Nuevo 2017. Que este año, en la medida de lo posible, esté en armonía con vuestros deseos. ACH tiene casi medio siglo de edad, de hecho algo memorable.

Gracias a todos los que han contribuido a mantener viva esta aventura intelectual y dinámica humana.

Sin embargo, no ha sido divulgada como merece, aunque nuestras conferencias son enormemente apreciadas. Nuestras reuniones anuales son ocasiones de valiosos intercambios de comunicación, en las cuales nuestros trabajos a menudo son publicados más tarde en revistas. Estos artículos no siempre se encuentran asociados con ACH, sin embargo, y como resultado, puede que estemos perdiendo una oportunidad para incentivar a que más personas nos vean como su plataforma para el intercambio académico. Por esta razón, nos gustaría establecer un sistema que permita archivar, difundir y mejorar las contribuciones hechas en los simposios anuales, sin obstaculizar su posterior publicación. Los especialistas de la Universidad de las Antillas y Guyana, (quienes ya se encuentran en red con otras universidades, bibliotecas y bases de datos del Caribe) están dispuestos a ayudarnos a lograrlo. No hay duda de que otras universidades pueden contribuir en ello, donde el objetivo es, la no apropiación de los contenidos, sino más bien hacerlos lo más disponible posible.

Para alcanzar este objetivo, sería necesario crear una “Colección ACH”, un tipo de base de datos construida de acuerdo con entradas clásicas, por autor, título, año y la cual puede ser enriquecida con distintos tipos de enlaces, referencias y presentaciones, en un portal científico como el HAL (sistema nacional de archivo y difusión científica al cual se ha adherido la Universidad de las Antillas y Guyana). El equipo bibliotecario de la universidad se encargaría del depósito y la descripción de la documentación seleccionada y administraría la colección en línea; la asociación tendría los derechos de administrar la colección. El desarrollador del sitio web estaría a cargo de la adaptación. La documentación tomaría la forma de publicación digital en PDF. La ACH se beneficiaría con ello ya que tendría mayor visibilidad y mejor reconocimiento de su trabajo y sus miembros.

El único obstáculo es el de obtener la autorización para la difusión de cada autor, la cual no le impide publicar un texto revisado en una revista. Esta propuesta fue mencionada en el Comité Ejecutivo y ciertamente merece ser discutida, incluso antes de nuestra asamblea general. Sería una oportunidad para prolongar los debates sobre ACH más allá de nuestra reunión anual.

President of the Association of Caribbean Historians,
Prof. Jacques Dumont, Université des Antilles et de la

In Memoriam: A Farewell to Michael Craton

By, James Walvin (University of York)

Michael Craton 1931-2016, was a graduate of University College London and McMaster University who spent his academic career at the University of Waterloo. Until illness intervened he was a lively, regular and engaged member of the ACH.

While a school teacher in the Bahamas, Michael wrote his first book History of the Bahamas (1963) - still in print 50 years later. He then returned to university to complete a pioneering study of the Jamaica Vice-Admiralty Courts for his Ph.D. thesis. The publication of A Jamaican Plantation. Worthy Park 1670-1970, (with James Walvin) in 1970 marked the beginning of Michael's entry into Caribbean historiography. Over the next forty years, by dint of remorseless archival work in the Caribbean and Britain, Michael published a series of important books each raising new questions and suggesting new approaches to major historical issues in the history of the Caribbean, and especially of slavery.

His Sinews of Empire (1974) brought the specialised work of the scholarship to a wider readership. At the same time his collection of documents, many never previously published in Slavery Abolition and Emancipation (with James Walvin and David Wright) made available important material for a wider student readership. Michael's continued work on Worthy Park took a more extensive form in his pioneering study Searching for the Invisible Man (1978) in which he sought to link conventional archival research with modern oral testimony. It was an early attempt at linking past and present: a prototype of more recent studies by others in the field.

Michael's next major project, on slave resistance (Testing the Chains, 1982) was another bold enterprise, which revealed Michael's emergence as a historian who commanded both small detail and the broader sweep. Again, it was a pioneering volume that exercised great influence over subsequent studies of slave resistance.

Through all this, he continued a committed and industrious regime of undergraduate and graduate teaching at Waterloo, spreading his knowledge and enthusiasm for Caribbean history among large numbers of Canadian students. He established himself as a major figure in the dissemination of informed knowledge about the Caribbean and slavery. But it was his written word which reached a wider audience. Books continued to emerge at regular intervals - signs of his indefatigable industry and commitment to his craft, and evidence of his intellectual engagement with the major historical regional and broader historical issues.

Michael organised and then published the proceedings of a major conference (Roots and Branches: current directions in slave studies 1979) and returned, in the influential company of Gail Saunders to the Bahamas with their two-volume history, Islanders in the Stream, vols. 1 and 2, 1999, 2000. Retirement from teaching had not dimmed his energy and commitment to being a working historian. His research on the Cayman Islands led to his book, Founded Upon the Seas, 2003. He also wrote a biography of Lynden Pindling, Pindling: The Life and Times of the First Prime Minister of the Bahamas, 2002. Throughout, his career Michael continued to publish a string of important scholarly essays, the best of which were published by Ian Randall in the volume, Empire, Enslavement and Freedom in the Caribbean, in 1997.)

Through all this remarkable and industrious output and his busy teaching career, Michael remained a deeply-rooted family man: an Englishman who loved his cricket (he travelled everywhere with a cricket ball) who showed those qualities forged in wartime England. He had been evacuated from the London blitz to rural safety, and he later spent two years as a National Service soldier. His discipline and loyalty owed much to those formative times.

Many will remember Michael for his published work, for his persistence as an attentive and vigorous cross-examiner at ACH sessions and as a greatly-influential teacher. It was my good fortune, to have met Michael in graduate school and was to know him as a mentor and friend (his stern schoolmasterly supervision of my work helped shape my own career.) His influence however is much broader than that and we can mourn his passing by acknowledging his major impact and influence on the scholarly world we all belong to.

Attendees are expected to arrange their own taxi transportation from the airport to the hotel; the drive is approximately 20 minutes and costs TT $80-130 (USD $12-20) depending on the number of occupants. Taxis or mini-buses are available at reasonable prices to take you around the city, the Store Bay Area and the rest of Tobago.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION AND MEMBERSHIP FEES:

All conference attendees and presenters must be current members of the ACH. Those who joined at the last conference will need to renew at or before this year's meeting; those who joined since the meeting in Cuba have a valid membership until just after the conference in Tobago.

For those who still need to join, you can do so via the ACH website (<http://www.associationofcaribbeanhistorians.org>, just look under "Membership"), or by mail. A membership form appears on the last page of this Bulletin for your convenience.

There are five categories of membership (all amounts below appear in US Dollars):

- Professional Members ($40 a year): for faculty, public history, or governmental positions.
- Students Members ($15 a year): a special rate for graduate and undergraduate students.
- Institutional Members ($80 a year): for colleges, universities, libraries, or museums.
- Benefactor ($120 a year): a higher category of giving to support the organization's activities.
- Life Membership ($400): the best membership bargain—equivalent to 10 years of annual membership, but valid for life.

In addition to annual membership, there is a registration fee for the conference itself to defray local expenses. Registration fees for the 2017 conference appear below. While participants can register at the conference, speakers and chairs must do so in advance, and pre-registration online is encouraged for everyone—presenting or not—to gain access to all pre-circulated conference papers. All those presenting or chairing sessions at the conference MUST renew their membership and register for the conference by the time their pre-circulated papers are due on March 15, 2017:

ACH Members:	USD $175
Caribbean-based Students:	USD $65
Non-Caribbean-based Students:	USD $80

Registration online can be completed by credit card. If you choose to register on site, fees are payable in cash or travelers cheques only.

WEATHER AND CURRENCY

Located just north of the equator, Tobago enjoys a tropical climate and is sunny all year round. The average daytime temperature is 29°C (83°F) and maximums in the low to mid 30s. The water temperature is a few degrees lower. Trade Winds blow consistently, cooling the island so effectively that air-conditioning is the exception rather than the rule.

The currency of Trinidad & Tobago is the T&T dollar. Coins come in denominations of TT$1 and 50, 25, 10, 5 and 1 cents; and banknotes in TT$1, 5, 10, 20 and 100. Major credit cards (Master Card, Visa, American Express) are accepted almost everywhere, but don't expect to use cards at small shops, stalls and bars, etc. The US dollar is accepted in most establishments, but it is wiser and cheaper to use local TT currency. It certainly does not make financial sense to change from your local currency to US dollars and then have these converted to TT dollars at typical rates of less than TT$6=US$1.

REFRESHMENTS AND LUNCH

Snack/Coffee Breaks will be provided during the conference. Lunch will be available at the Magdalena Grand hotel for purchase. Taxis will be available to shuttle participants to and from the Store Bay area where they may purchase lunch.

ACCESSING PRE-CIRCULATED PAPERS

ACH presentations include both a pre-circulated 25-page paper and a brief conference presentation. The ACH is making pre-circulated papers available online for those who pre-register. The system is simple. Once the ACH receives your completed registration, you will receive a password to access the portion of the website where papers are housed. Please be aware that papers are not due until March 15; they will not, as a result, be available online until mid-April 2016.

You can pre-register for the conference in one of two ways:

- 1) Complete, print and mail the “Conference Pre-Registration Form” available in this Bulletin along with a cheque to cover your registration fee and, if necessary, membership fee.
- 2) Register online at <http://www.associationofcaribbeanhistorians.org>. You will be asked to complete an electronic registration form and pay with a credit card. Online registration will be available in February 2017.

ACH 2017 Conference Presentation Guidelines

A number of 2016 presenters are new to the ACH, or returning after some time away. Please take a few minutes to review the conference paper procedures:

1. Every presenter must be a member of the ACH. If you are not currently a member, you can join through the ACH website, <http://www.associationofcaribbeanhistorians.org>, by mail, or in person during registration at the conference (all presenters, please remember, must register in advance by March 15, 2017).
2. ACH papers include both a pre-circulated paper and a brief presentation at the conference. Papers can be written in English, French or Spanish, and can be no longer than 25 typed, double-spaced pages using 12-point font. This includes notes and references. Because we have more papers than usual this year, ALL presenters must strictly adhere to this format—papers longer than 25 pages or not double-spaced will be returned for editing.

Poster presentations are shorter, and pre-circulated papers should be limited to between 5 and 10 double-spaced pages.

To allow time to format and post material, presenters should email or mail papers on CD (as a Microsoft Word file) NO LATER THAN March 15, 2017 to:

Tara Inniss, ACH Conference Coordinator at achconference@gmail.com

PLEASE NOTE: You will be asked to register for the conference, and to pay for registration, at this time. Presenters who do not provide papers by the March 15, 2017 deadline will be removed from the program and will not be permitted to present.

3. Conference papers posted online will be password protected; only after someone has registered and paid for the conference will they be able to access this portion of the website.
4. Presentations at the conference should serve to briefly introduce information in pre-circulated papers, and as such are limited to 10 minutes. Poster sessions are shorter still—half hour sessions are dedicated to poster presenters at the start of each day, with additional time during the morning breaks to engage with conference delegates. It is very important, given the number of panels and presenters this year, that all presenters strictly adhere to these time limits, and panel chairs will be charged with ensuring that panels proceed on time.
5. Presentations at the conference can be in English, French or Spanish; simultaneous translation of all presentations will be provided by the ACH.

On behalf of the ACH, a warm welcome to those of you presenting for the first time or returning after a period away. Please, do not hesitate to contact the Conference Coordinator for more details or if you have any questions.

ACH President Jacques Dumont called the meeting to order at 3:00pm.

This year's Annual General Meeting (AGM) began with a tribute to former ACH President and longstanding member Danielle Begót, who passed away earlier this year after a long illness. Four ACH members, founder Jacques Adelaide, Tiffany Patterson, Bridget Brereton, and Richard Blackett, shared their thoughts and memories of Begót, and Dumont closed the ceremony by reading an adaptation of a poem by Jose Marti that he believed captured her pioneering and generous spirit.

Dumont began the regular session by noting that this year's programme—both panel and poster sessions—demonstrated especially strong research, and thanked all presenters for keeping to their allotted time and ensuring that the conference could proceed in an orderly fashion. He especially thanked those who participated in the inaugural poster sessions, and suggested that their innovative use of PowerPoint presentations could serve as a model for all presenters about how to creatively and dynamically convey their messages succinctly.

He also thanked audience members, whose questions and discussion led to important pedagogical exchanges about both research and teaching methodologies and allowed the conference to effectively showcase work from different cultures.

Confirmation of the 2015 AGM Minutes: The May 2015 minutes were distributed electronically in advance of the AGM, and attendees asked to bring corrections and changes. As none were forthcoming, the minutes were unanimously approved.

Report of the Executive Committee and Secretariat, 2015-2016: The 2015-2016 Executive Committee (EC) met twice this year, in November 2015 to plan the 2016 conference, and on June 9, 2016 during this year's Annual General Meeting. The fall meeting focused on review of conference applications and the 2016 annual programme.

In all, there were 25 panel proposals (comprised of 95 proposed presentations) as well as additional 80 individual paper applications, as well as two panel proposals of four presenters offered by the Cuban Local Organizing Committee. The total potential number of presenters between panel and poster applications was 183. The initial programme, advertised in the winter issue of the Bulletin, featured 17 panels and 5 poster sessions composed of 102 presentations. The final programme included 16 panels and 4 poster sessions composed of 84 presentations.

The ACH welcomed many new and returning members including (as of June 9, 2015):

3 new Life Members: Maureen Elgersman Lee (Hampton University), Myra Ann Houser (Ouachita Baptist University), and Ross Nedervelt (Florida International University)

The ACH also had: 1 Institutional Member renewal; 129 New Members or Member renewals; and 44 New Student Members or Member renewals (names and institutions of all of which appeared, or will appear, in the January and July 2016 issues of the ACH Bulletin).

NOTE: For comparison, in 2015 the ACH had 6 new Life Members, 102 New or Renewed Members, and 24 New or Renewed Student Members.

The ACH published two issues of the Bulletin (July 2015 and January 2016), which included the 2016 conference call for papers and local arrangements information and the preliminary programme respectively. Calls for papers and announcements about the conference were also advertised on H-Caribbean and H-Atlantic, as well as to over fifty Latin American/Caribbean Studies Programs.

ACH website updates continue. The Secretariat is currently in the process of digitizing past issues of the Bulletin and hopes to complete a full digital archive by next year's conference.

Financial Report, 2015-2016: Michelle McDonald presented this year's financial summary, noting that both membership and registration income remained strong. The following represents the total conference attendance this year:

129	Faculty/Professional
21	Local Delegates
12	Cuban-based volunteers
6	Caribbean Student Registration
19	Non-Caribbean Student Registration
25	Conference Guests

212 TOTAL EVENT ATTENDANCE

It is important to note that this conference represents the largest attendance of Spanish-speaking delegates in over 15 years (including when the conference was last in Puerto Rico). It also represents the largest attendance of French-speaking delegates in over 10 years (except when the conference was held in Guadeloupe in 2009 and Martinique in 2014). It is also the largest number of Caribbean-based graduate students in the last 10 years (who were not conference volunteers).

In addition, the University of the West Indies Press attended this year's event and renewed its institutional membership, which renewed its institutional membership. A full copy of the financial report appears in the summer 2016 issue of the Bulletin.

Despite record registration, however, constraints on local fundraising meant that the ACH contributed appreciably more in terms of seed money this year than in the past. While the EC agreed that the circumstances of this location warranted this level of support, it is not a pattern that that the organization and sustain in the future.

Report of the Andrés Ramos Mattei-Neville Hall Article Prize Committee: Kristen Block, a member of this year's prize committee, presented the 2016 Andrés Ramos Mattei-Neville Hall Article Prize, a biennial award that recognizes the best article in the field of Caribbean history. The award went to ACH member Lara Putnam for "Citizenship from the Margins: Vernacular Theories of Rights and the State from the Interwar Caribbean," Journal of British Studies 53:1 (2014) 162-191. The committee also gave an honorary mention to Marcy Norton for her article “The Chicken or the Legue: Human-Animal Relationships and the Columbian Exchange”, The American Historical Review 120:1 (2015) 28-60. The full report appears online at: <http://www.associationofcaribbeanhistorians.org/prizes.htm>.

Gould-Saunders Memorial Travel Prize:

Virginia Gould and Gail Saunders, founders of the Gould-Saunders Memorial Travel Award, jointly presented this year’s prize to Jessica Pierre-Louis, who studied at the Université des Antilles et de la Guyane AIHP/ GEODE. Her paper was entitled “Wealth and Racial Categorization of the Free people of Color in Martinique in the Eighteenth Century.” The Gould-Saunders Memorial Travel Award was established in 2005 to provide assistance for graduate students and junior scholars from institutions in the Caribbean and Central America to attend the ACH conference. This is the sixth year it has been awarded.

Selection of the Elsa Goveia Book Prize Committee:

Jacques Dumont called for nominations from the floor for the 2015-2016 Elsa Goveia Book Prize Committee. Anne Macpherson (The College at Brockport, SUNY), Pedro Welch (University of the West Indies, Cave Hill), and David Trotman (York University) all received nominations and agreed to serve. Calls for nominations will be distributed to members and via H-Caribbean beginning in August 2016.

Report of the Nominating Committee, 2015-

2016: This year’s Nominating Committee included Bridget Brereton (convener, University of the West Indies, St. Augustine), RoseMary Allen (University of Curaçao), and Kathryn Dungy (St. Michael’s College). Brereton reported that the following were elected to the EC for a one-year term: Jacques Dumont (President) and Rosemarijn Hoefte (Vice President). Tara Inniss was elected as the new Secretary-Treasurer for a three-year term, while Clara Palmiste was elected as Conference Coordinator for one year. Changes in work obligations led the EC to divide the conference coordinator responsibilities, at her request, between Palmiste and Armando

Garcia, who was re-elected for a second one-year term. Joining these officers are three additional at-large members, Jonathan Dalby, Ada Ferrer, and Margo Groenwoud.

Selection of the Nominating Committee,

2016-2017: Following announcement of this year’s election results, Jacques Dumont called for nominations from the floor for the 2016-17 Nominating Committee. The following individuals were nominated and agreed to serve: Kathleen Monteith (University of the West Indies, Mona); Jean-Pierre Sainton (Université des Antilles et de la Guyane); Rosanne Laura Adderly (Tulane University); Roderick McDonald (Rider University); and Richard Blackett (Vanderbilt University). Although this committee is larger than the standard ACH nominating committee of three persons, it was decided, following discussion by the AGM, to allow all nominees to serve. Committee members agreed to select their own chair from among their members. This information will be posted on the ACH website.

Report on locations for the 49th Annual ACH

Conference: Claudius Fergus, outgoing department head of history at the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine, presented the preliminary report on the proposed location for the 2017 ACH Conference. Given summer meeting schedules, the full department has not yet voted on the precise location, although three options are being considered: Trinidad, Tobago, and a conference schedule that includes both locations. Fergus noted that Trinidad might be the easier location to coordinate, as there are more large hotels and a campus setting. Tobago, on the other hand, would be a more novel venue for ACH members (although the conference sessions would need to be located in a hotel; this would, however, also eliminate the labor and cost involved in moving delegates between hotel accommodation and meeting rooms). Fergus intimated that hotels might also be slightly less expensive in Tobago. Although the decision remains the purview of the local organizing committee, a show of hands indicated a strong preference for Tobago among AGM members. There are no formal proposals for other sites for 2017, or for outlying years, although members indicated that St. Martin and Barbados had expressed preliminary interest in 2018. More certain is the date of the 2017 conference, which will be May 14-19, 2017. NOTE: Since the AGM, UWI's department has met and the location of the 2017 conference will be Tobago. Additional details will follow on the ACH website shortly.

Any Other Business: Jacques Dumont asked members to join him in thanking the translators for their exemplary service during the conference. He also asked the AGM to consider whether the ACH should move towards an overarching theme to guide conference planning and application selection. He noted that most major conferences have moved in this direction, and that a sufficiently broad theme would allow for a range of topics—both micro and macro—to be addressed. Richard Blackett suggested that the EC be charged with forming the theme based on the papers accepted to the conference at the fall EC meeting. The following recommendations for 2017 conference themes came from the floor:

- 1) Does the Field of History have a Future
- 2) Caribbean Business and Economic History
- 3) Caribbean Sports and Leisure
- 4) Communication
- 5) History of the Antilles
- 6) Archeology and History
- 7) Connections between Islands & Mainlands
- 8) The Caribbean and the Environment
- 9) Gender and Sexuality
- 10) Education Policy
- 11) Queer History
- 12) Global Dimensions of Caribbean History
- 13) Comparative History
- 14) The Caribbean and World War II
- 15) Citizenship
- 16) Disability and the Caribbean
- 17) Caribbean Landscape
- 18) The Caribbean on the Move

The EC noted that, in their selection process, there is a preference for panels that are broadly defined. This includes both in terms of topic, region, and linguistic tradition, as well as speakers' institution, level of professional development, etc. In other words, panels that focused narrowly on one nation, or that included speakers from the same institution, were often not ranked as highly as those that offered more variety and the potential for comparative analysis. Applicants should bear these suggestions in mind for 2017.

Evaluation of the 2016 Conference: All AGM members agreed that the conference was very well organized, and that the translation services were strong.

Carla Pestana noted that those from the US received extra assistance from Roxsana Estrada of Academic Travel Cuba, Inc. who personally met delegates at the Miami Airport to ensure their smooth transportation to Havana.

Anne Macpherson recommended continuation of the poster panels in 2017, but suggested that—rather than brief presentations—presenters offer more traditional posters that are stationed in a room for one-on-one discussion. Gad Heuman seconded this recommendation. Roderick McDonald preferred the brief oral presentations, which he commended for being tightly scripted and dynamic; static posters might limit the number of delegates who learned of a poster presenter's research. Ross Nedervelt suggested that the ISECS conference has a more traditional poster session, and it is well attended. Richard Blackett concluded that the poster sessions are a departure from past ACH practice that always required pre-circulated papers. Michelle McDonald responded that poster presenters did have pre-circulated papers (they were filed in a different subpage in the "Annual Meeting" portion of the ACH website). The overall sense from the AGM was that poster presentations should continue, but the format needs to be more clearly articulated in the call for applications and instructions to presenters.

Rita Pemberton concluded the meeting by noting that 2018 will be the 50th anniversary of the ACH, and that the institution should begin planning for this event. Efforts to collect testimonies from founders are already underway, and the ACH might look into the possibility of a commemorative publication. There being no further business, ACH President Jacques Dumont adjourned the meeting at 4:52pm.
